

5

amazing programs to continue learning beyond camps

We have curated and are partnering with some high quality workshops and offers that can enhance life skills and interests. Because sometimes we cannot get to the outdoors.

1 CHATTERBOX

The ability to express oneself publicly is a virtue every individual already possesses but needs some encouragement to unlock it completely. The program aims to build the idea that public speaking goes beyond stages and competitions, and is important in day to day life.

Key skills acquired: Confidence, Presentation skills, Effective communication, and the Ability to put one's ideas across to an audience

chatterboxlive.in

2

Tantrums, screen addiction, passive aggression, lack of communication, lack of confidence, substance abuse, lack of direction, bad company— these are all symptoms of bigger underlying issues. Active Parenting is a framework that helps parents proactively address the root-causes & build 21st century skills in children, and raise them to be happy, responsible, resilient, and successful. It consists of over 30 video lectures, workbooks and research findings.

inme.activeparenting.in

3

The Innovation Story learning modules comprise of Artificial Intelligence, Game Development, Programming and Robotics. These are becoming essential in the ever growing world of programming, technology and STEM based learning.

Key skills that children acquire are Problem solving, Enhancement of creativity, Critical thinking, Collaboration and Time management.

theinnovationstory.com

4 GenWe

GenWE is an international organization that helps teenagers step out of their social bubble by pairing teenagers from different backgrounds, much like the concept of pen pals. GenWE focuses on 6 leadership traits that help teens become global citizens and future leaders. The GenWE program has 2 key components - Learning from pairing and Learning from experts. The entire program is virtual and teens spend one hour a week learning and practicing new leadership skills.

genwe.today

5

Children need to understand the value of money and learn to make better financial decisions. The concept of money, saving and investments is constantly changing and it is imperative to get a hold on one's personal finances. F@ST is a gamified experience that builds financial literacy awareness and skills to manage personal finances in a sustainable manner through life.

Key skills of Financial planning and Forward thinking approach.

fast4future.com